Sr. Warden's Report – Amy Kellogg

Last Fall, like many churches throughout the Diocese (and across the country) we filed a claim in the Boy Scouts bankruptcy case. We filed a contingent claim because at the moment we don't know of any claims against us as a result of hosting a Boy Scout troop at St. Andrew's, but due to the bankruptcy case it was suggested that we file the claim just in case. The Boy Scouts have now put forth their bankruptcy plan of which we were given notice. The BSA is requesting to dismiss all of the contingent claims that were filed against it. The attorneys representing the victims are putting forth a plan whereby if a contingent claim were brought against a church, the church would have to handle defending the claim at its own cost, but then the church could make a claim against the Victim's Fund for reimbursement. While we don't expect St. Andrew's to be the subject of any claims, we are keeping apprised of what is going on with the BSA bankruptcy case.
